Dear Parent/Guardian

You may be aware from the national press that the three major teaching unions have given notice that they will be taking industrial action on Wednesday 30 November. The strike is not against the school but as part of national industrial action organised by these trade unions in relation to changes to the pension schemes of their members.

Given the numbers of teachers we expect to be involved in the action, the school cannot safely operate next Wednesday if the strike goes ahead. The school will therefore be closed during the day for all students except for Adult Education classes run by Extended Schools which will remain open.

There is still a possibility that these arrangements may change again as a result of potential developments in the dispute so please look out for further messages from school via email and on the website.

Thank you for your understanding at this time.

Yours sincerely

P Hunter
