

DANNY MACASKILL

My role model is Danny MacAskill, because he is Dyslexic like me. He struggled in school like I do but he found something he was really good at and that was mountain biking.

He is a professional Street trials rider he was born on the 23rd of December 1985 he is now 34 years old he has a book called at the edge riding for my life he has one sibling parents are Peter McCaskill in Anne McCaskill his hometown is Dunvegan.

The reason I want to be like Danny McCaskill is because he achieved his goals even with dyslexia and he made a good living out of it doing what he loves.

He started cycling at the age of five and he says that he still cycles with that same attitude he had as a child.

April 19th 2009 the young Scott had his breakthrough moment. Then 23, he released Inspired Bicycles, a 5 and 1/2 minute Street Trials video, On YouTube. It changed his life.

He is one of the world's biggest YouTube stars and has broken more than 30 bones.
